

WE CAN RAISE $2,500 FOR THE Y.M.C.A.

Y.M.C.A. S ESSENTIAL ORGANIZATION OF THIS WAR

At the conference of workers in the Red Triangle campaign, held at Calgary a week ago, after considerable discussion by the men present, it was unanimously decided to conduct the Alberta campaign simultaneously with the National Wide campaign, May 7, 8 & 9. On those dates, every city, town and municipality will conduct their part of the gigantic drive to raise $2,500,000 to maintain the work of the Y.M.C.A. with the soldiers overseas. Alberta's quota is $150,000 and the enthusiastic response received by the central committee in Calgary indicates that an army of workers will see that the Alberta boys at the front have their full share of service from the Red Triangle in the coming months.

Great Enthusiastic Reception
One round of enthusiastic reception has been the experience of Capt. Robert Pearson, M.L.A., who has been touring the province since the season progressed, conducting the work of the Red Triangle in England and France. Captain Pearson is very optimistic regarding his campaign, and judging by the enthusiasm and energy with which the people are taking hold of it, is confident that the boys at the front will have their usual share of comfort, recreation and entertainments again this summer.

$85,000 for Hot Drinks
Eighty-five thousand dollars was spent for hot drinks for the soldier boys by the Red Triangle last year. In the advanced area, the Y.M.C.A. handle refreshments and these in disguise. Supplies are sold, with the exception of hot drinks which are furnished free. And each soldier according to the British army regulations, which name an official price for everything which must be offered to all over British names. During a rush of any kind no goods are sold, but given away to the exhausted and wounded men. This phase of work alone, at Hull 70 was credited, with serving hundreds of men. Wouldn't stay for $10,000.

When the battle for Hull 70 was being waged, several forward Y.M.C.A. dug-outs were destroyed by shell fire. These dug-outs are in most advanced positions and line the most largely used paths leading to and from the trenches in sort of relays. The men ginning and going are sure to get something to eat, and something hot to drink at these places. Many of them are manned by army chaplains, who work hand in hand with the Red Triangle. A story is told of one soldier who, after seeing a shell destroy a Red Triangle dug-out for the second time, said to the secretary in charge, "I wouldn't stay there for $10,000." "Neither would I," was the reply of the "Y" man, who proceeded to gather up the remnants of his stock in trade and continue to serve the boys in the zone.

Rev. Capt. John McNeill's story, but it weren't for the bloody holes in these "ers," "ate, there'd be an awful a time in this 'see barney.'" was the very one English soldier expressed his opinion of the Red Triangle work of the Y.M.C.A. as he stepped out into the mud after attending a concert one night in France, according to Rev. Capt. John McNeill, formerly pastor of Wainwright Baptist church in Toronto, and for the first eighteen months a Red Triangle worker in France.

After paying a tribute to Captain Robert Pearson and Capt. George Pilon, two Alberta men doing splendid work at the front, he told of the spending of the Red Cross in providing comforts to the men, and caring for the wounded. He told of the courage and devotion of the chaplains, some of whom have gone "over the top," with the boys, and who with the perseverance of detectives, endeavor to secure information for relatives at home of the boys.

One incident related by Capt. McNeill, which occurred just before his departure for Canada was both humorous and earnest. In addressing a meeting of men, he asked them, if they had any message for him to take home—they wanted everything from parcels to reinforcements, and one fellow suggested "something good for the lads" which proved said Capt. McNeill, "that one fellow was very much alive." But the answer soon took a serious turn, and the final message was "Stand by us and we will see it through; be good to our women back home."

Capt. McNeill laid particular emphasis upon the necessity of entertainment for the men. He said that alone in England and France, equipment being given to any man in the Canadian area free of charge, for any sport.

The sum of $55,000 was expended last year on entertainment. A special bus is maintained in charge of Lt. Frank Armstrong, who is called minister of various sections, entertaining.

A special feature of this work is the entertaining of battalions upon the night that they come down from the line, but being given over to them entirely, for the evening, as they exhibit stunts, and this has been found a very valuable means of inducing a normal condition.

The campaign will be in full force in this district starting on the date named and all are expected to assist as liberally as possible in the furthering of this great work among the soldiers in France and England. Notwithstanding the many appeals that have been made for different causes during these last few years, for war work, etc., it is hoped that Wainwright will cheerfully and easily subscribe the amount that has been allotted to this district.

TROOPS REACH ENGLAND
OTTAWA, April 29.—It is officially announced through the chief press officer's office that 3,400 Canadian troops have arrived safely in England.

ARTHUR KING KILLED AT FRONT

The great war has claimed another one of Wainwright's boys, in the person of Arthur King, who paid the supreme sacrifice for liberty and freedom on the battlefields of France on April 16th. Word was received in town on Sunday that he was killed in action "somewhere in France."

He was a young lad of 22 years of age. He was born in Preston, Lancashire, England, in 1895 and came to Grenfell, Manitoba, with his parents when only a boy. He lived there several years and later his father moved to Wainwright where he opened up a jewelry store.

He attended public school here and graduated, securing his matriculation, and later took up teaching as a profession. He taught at Edgerton two years before the first time last November, 1915, with the 151st battalion. He was created a sergeant, but when in England reverted to the ranks in order to get to the front. He was wounded twice, the first time last November and again in February of this year.

While a resident of Wainwright he was very popular among the boys and was an enthusiast in cadet work, having organized the first cadet corps here, and later becoming the drill master.

His father is with the army, holding the position of bandmaster of the 151st band. Both parents are now residing in England.

"Every position must be held to the last man."—Sir Douglas Haig.

Yonder in these shell-torn trenches strewn with wreckage, stained in blood, Stands our Empire's most defending British ideals born of God.

Where the poppies bloom and fade: Day by day our sons are fighting For our ideals born of God.

Yonder in these fields of Flanders Lonely links of bare ground cross.

Tell the debt for Freedom paid. Holding firm! holding firm!

Day by day, those bare ground crosses Tell the debt for Freedom paid.

Yonder in those lines of battle Still our Empire hears its Cross: Suffering Calvary's path and cross.

In the conflict's path and cross, Holding firm! holding firm!

Day by day our boys are suffering In the conflict's path and cross.

Yonder still, and yonder ever Move the lines of Freedom's sons: Fighting forth in youthful splendor Brave to face the ravens' wings.

British firm! holding firm! British boys are destined to Glory Brave to face the ravens' wings.

Yonder, yonder, ever yonder, In the Land of Crowning Dawn: Victory, the immortal spirit, Cry to us to "Carry On!"

Holding firm! holding firm! God's own heroes stand for Freedom Crying to us, "Carry On!"

ODEFELLOWS HAVE ANNUAL PARADE

"A new commandment I give unto you, that you should love one another as I have loved you." It was with this text that the Rev. H. Wilson, of St. Thomas church, drew his illustrations from which he delivered an address to the members of Wainwright lodge No. 45 I. O. O. F. on the occasion of the 95th anniversary of the founding of the order.

On Sunday evening, twenty members of Wainwright lodge, together with members of Adolphus Weisbach lodge, marched to St. Thomas church, where the annual church address was delivered.

Mr. Wilson, in choosing the subject for the sermon, commented upon the high ideals, as set forth in the constitution of the I. O. O. F. and dwelt upon the significance of the three links—friendship, love and truth, which is the symbol of Oddfellows. In discussing these he chose the noble link as constituting the greatest of the three, and the one, if conscientiously carried out to its full meaning, would embody the principles of the other two.

"Love may be divided into two divisions," said the speaker, "that which can be called love from within and the outward love. Men may devote their money, time and energy in endeavoring to discover new things that may result in the betterment of mankind as a whole, and may to the satisfaction of the spirit of their love for mankind. The true love, that which Christ taught, has for its ideal the spiritual love, the love of which is the greatest of all, giving. This new conception of love springs from the country of Israel, from the person of Christ himself, and is in contrast to the narrow-mindedness of the old world." With this thought, the personal sacrifice, the love from within, Mr. Wilson considered each address, and at the end of the service the members again formed in procession and marched back to the lodge room.

TOWN HERD ORGANIZED

A solemn and awful warning is here given to all the honest citizens of this fair town, who are fortunate enough to possess a cow, that henceforth it is decreed, that the said cow shall no longer wander among the avenues and boulevards of Wainwright, but, exploring gardens and other sacred spots, for there has been inaugurated a town herd, and all such derelict animals should be given to the guiding hand of the herder, Mr. Catterell, if they would avoid a trip to the city pound.

Mr. Catterell requests that all owners of cows should make arrangements with him to take them in the pasture each day. He will gather them every morning between 7 and 8 o'clock at the corner of Queen's street and Fifth avenue.

The town officials are having a pound fixed up and threaten to gather in all cows that they may find wandering around, and also they intimate that the fee for releasing any that may be unlikely enough to become inmates of the pound, will be raised. So if you want that nice bit of cream and fresh milk, every morning, be "over there" doing their bit to help the allies and wishing them every success and that in some future date they would be here to welcome them home again.

At the conclusion of the banquet all joined hands forming a complete circle around the table and sang the old familiar "Auld Lang Syne."

The following were present: J. J. Hoffman, and Geo. and the guests: W. Cullen, A. J. Logan, F. M. McNeill, W. Prosser, W. E. Wilby, J. Tansey, F. G. Jenkins, J. Carroll, F. Parker, W. Warring, Mr. Bradbury, Sgt. Greenwood, Rev. Wilson, A. E. Miller, F. W. Fish, R. G. Fairhead, T. Lashmore, J. Richardson, D. O. Mathers, H. Smart, J. Allen and T. Chasty.

Amsterdam, April 27.—Speaking before the main committee of the German Reichstag on Friday, according to "Vremes," Gen. von Richthofen stated that in March 31, last, the number of German missing had reached a total of 664,014. Of this number, he said, 236,000 were prisoners in France; 119,000 in England; 157,000 in Russia and Rumania and the remainder necessarily regarded as dead.

OPEN SEASON FOR CHICKEN, PARTRIDGE

There will be an open season for prairie chicken and partridge this year. Under the statute law amendments passed by the legislature last month of October, first and last days inclusive, will be open for the shooting of this game throughout Alberta. Hungarian partridges will also be at the hunting list along with the other variety of game birds. In the case of prairie chickens and partridges there will be a bag limit of ten in any one day and 100 for the season, and bags of five per day and twenty-five for the season. The game guardian's office will shortly issue notices in accordance with these regulations.

In this issue of the paper will be found an original poem, "Holding Firm," which was written by Wilfred Greenwood, a returned soldier and ex-sergeant. Mr. Greenwood will be in the town for several weeks, and will convey the pulpit of the Presbyterian church here.

DRASTIC RESTRICTIONS IN USE OF SUGAR

OTTAWA, April 29.—Drastic wartime restrictions on the use of sugar and shortening in the manufacture of biscuits, cakes, or sweet dough products; entire prohibition of the manufacture of certain of these products; curtailment of the sugar consumption by candy manufacturers to one-half the monthly averages used by them last year; limitation of the amount of fat and sugar which may be used in the manufacture of ice cream; such are the principal provisions of an order just issued by the Canada Food Board.

The new regulations are intended to restrict Canada's consumption of sugar to the available supply, and to prepare for the requirements of the canning and preserving season. The use of fat is curtailed because of the increasing need for edible fats overseas.

Further restrictions are made on the use of wheat flour in the manufacture of candy and sweet dough products.

PLENTY OF LABOR FOR NORTH FARMS

That farm labor is quite plentiful now in Edmonton district and in general throughout Alberta, is the opinion of Immigration Inspector Chapp, who says that he has had several men come from the United States recently for this purpose.

Americans who are brought to Canada by the immigration department to supply the farm labor demand are distributed by the provincial government authorities upon their arrival. The immigration office has a record of these men as they come in, but does not keep track of them after they are sent to positions on the farms.

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitch-forks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

CLEVELAND Tractor

Does the work of 12 horses & three men
Labour is scarce, horses are scarce and the Government urges the use of Tractors

If horses and men were plentiful the CLEVELAND would do your work faster and cheaper, and do it better.

With a CLEVELAND you can plow 10 acres or more in a 10 hour day, that's more than you can do with three 4-horse teams and 3 men. Figure the saving.

Water holes; mud holes; soft or solid ground; up hill or down the CLEVELAND works well anywhere, it has its own track like an rmy tank. It will pull two binders or two drills or two sets of drills and two sets of harrows at the same time.

The CLEVELAND Tractor will drive a 24—40 inch separator fully equipped; pulley is fastened direct to crank shaft, no gears to cause trouble.

The CLEVELAND burns either gasoline or kerosene in fact tests prove that it develops more power on kerosene.

The CLEVELAND is built by manufacturers of the famous White Motor Trucks. Every part is as perfect as a piece can make it. Hyatt Roller Bearings are used throughout. The motor develops 12 h.p. at the draw bar and 20 h.p. at the pulley. Complete expert and repair service will be available from Wainwright for Clevelands in this district.

Farmers say the CLEVELAND has no superior as a labor saving, money-making device on the farm.

FOOD TRACTORS FOUND TO HAVE BEEN TAMPERED WITH

Evidence of tampering with the food tractors was found in some of the machines delivered to the Edmonton centre, reports the Lanes Motor Co., which is handling the tractors for this section and the department of agriculture which is taking the orders. The company said the department was notified some two weeks ago on the night of the tractor demonstration, that the Ford company had discovered this trouble and had them to inspect all engines thoroughly. It was thought not advisable to let this be known at the time as it might have made purchases. The trouble had been located before any of the cars were delivered in the province and every care was taken with the inspection afterwards.

The oil pipe to the engine was fitted to the brim with solder, and as there seemed no reasonable excuse for such solder at that point, it is thought it could not have been other than with criminal intent that it was done.

Two cars of the tractor have been expected here to date and another is expected any time. The tampered engines averaged about two to a car, as the message arrived in plenty of time the tractors were thoroughly inspected. As day came in and where it was found that the oil pipe had been fitted it was opened up, it might be thought that it would be necessary to take the engine apart to repair, but the local mechanics of Edmonton found they could clear the pipe thoroughly by means of their blow pipes whereby the solder was melted right out.

That the engines had been tampered with was quickly found out at the Ford factory and they did not waste any time apparently in locating their man either.

Only cars shipped before the 12th of April could have been tampered with as it was found out at that time. This makes it fairly certain that all the tractors received from now on will be sent that number. They will, however, be inspected thoroughly before being passed on to the farmer.

OTTAWA, April 22.—The Canada Food Board has issued a request that farmers or others having dealings in flour should buy flour as a condition for the shipment of bran and shorts, should notify the food board at once, giving as much detail as possible. CANADA FOOD BOARD MAY STOP CANDY MANUFACTURE

TORONTO, April 22.—An order by the Canada Food Board for the curtailment of the manufacture of candies is expected within the next few days. The food board has already taken action regarding the question of ice cream, limiting the amount of butter which shall be used in its manufacture.

Extensive improvements are to be made by the C.T.P. at Prince Rupert this season. The work includes a new railway station, machine shops and round house, and a wharf. Operations are to start right away.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION DISCUSSSED BY EXPERT

At a meeting in the Council Chamber last evening a fair-sized audience gathered. It was an address on the "Consolidation" question. A representative of the Department of Education spoke on the benefits to the rural communities.

The day of the one roomed school is gone. In the rural parts where the child had passed out of the eighth grade there was nothing for him to do but to leave home and go into the cities for his high school education, and this in the tender years of his life when the careful parental guidance is required.

Consolidation is considered necessary on account of the weakness of the one-roomed country school, there is the weakness not the small enrollment where the child has no competitive element to measure up to, but if the child is in a class with a number of others in the same grade he will both take and give impressions. It will broaden his vision. Then with the large enrollment it is a fiscal impossibility for the teacher to get around a class of 35 or 40 in the teaching time each day. A better class of teacher may be obtained. Some teachers prefer different grades, naturally she is going to give more attention to the portion of the class she likes best and then of course the other portion is neglected.

In consolidation a teacher can be chosen to fit the vacancy in the school. Reports given show that the average attendance after consolidation increased to many cases, ninety per cent of the enrollment. There is the opportunity of obtaining a high school training without the child having to leave home to obtain same.

Vocational training may be taken up, such as household science and agriculture, music, drawing and manual training. Consolidation plays an important part in the assimilating of the different nationalities in our country. If the young boys and girls are educated all in common the strength of manhood and womanhood will be wonderfully increased.

In a consolidated school there will be relatively few changes in the teaching force and a complete change will take place in the rural school. It also releases a number of teachers for the many vacancies that occur in the school at present, because there are many school districts unable to obtain teachers.

The financial side looms up largely in the eyes of many people in connection with the question of education, but they are not always as ready to place along side of the cost the value received, in educational matters as they are in other matters of business.

A little problem was given by the speaker showing what the value of an education meant to a child in his earning powers in after years. It was pointed out that the time a child spent in school was worth $10.00 per day—and that four years spent in high school was worth $30 per day. Under consolidation transportation is provided for the children to convey them to and from school, and the department has already in operation and working successfully a motor van capable of conveying twenty-six children to the school. This eliminated much of the hardship that is experienced by the children in struggling to school in the cold and sloppy days.

At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was tendered the speaker, and also a vote thanking the council for the use of the council chamber.

WINNIPEG, April 27.—A statement issued by T. H. Deacon, fuel controller in Manitoba, emphasizes the necessity for immediate steps being taken to provide coal in Western Canada for next winter. Following a conference in Ottawa between fuel experts and representatives of both the Canadian and United States governments, Mr. Deacon states that American authorities coal hereafter will not be sent west of Winnipeg in Canada, the available supply of hard coal being required for municipal and essential industries.

The Western provinces must turn to their own supplies of coal and it is urged that the people of Western Canada get next winter's coal stored this summer wherever possible.

Six thousand Canadian older boys are invited to earn and give at least Ten Dollars ($10) to the Red Triangle Fund. That means $60,000! Splendid! Five thousand dollars will be used for boys' work in India and China; another $5,000 for National Boys' Work of Canada, and $50,000 to help big brothers in Khaki. Are you a local Y.M.C.A. representative for information and inspiration? When you have subscribed one or more units of Ten Dollars, you will receive a beautifully engraved certificate.

"In thousands of cases," writes an officer, "it was that first hot cup of coffee that dragged the man back to life and sanity."

The tremendous helpfulness of the Y.M.C.A. as an aid to the "morale" or fighting spirit of the soldiers is everywhere praised. No wonder the Germans make every effort to smash the Y.M.C.A. hat's out of existence.

The Y.M.C.A. is everywhere. You first meet the helpful, manly Y.M.C.A. worker in camp, then on train and boat, at camp in England and in France, close to the firing line. Often he risks his life to reach you in the trenches. He has won the warmest praise from military authorities, statesmen—the King!

Have you a precious boy at the front? You cannot be "over there" to guide him away from fierce temptations of camp and city. You cannot comfort him in his supreme hour of trial. Your parcels to him are necessarily few. But the Y.M.C.A., thank God, is "over there," going where you cannot go—doing the very things you long to do—doing it for you and for him!

Will you help? This vast organization of helpfulness needs at least $2,250,000 from Canada for 1918. For your boy's sake be GENEROUS!!

Fight with Food

A Call to the Whole Dominion for the Utmost Effort to Produce Food for our Soldiers and Allies

OUR ALLIES are desperately short of food. In the midst of plenty ourselves we must face the stern reality of England on shorter rations than she has been for over a hundred years, and France with only three days' food reserve. Even from their present small supplies they are saving Italy from collapse through hunger.

Since shipping must be concentrated on the shortest routes, Canada and the United States must continue to be practically the only source of supply.

Canada must provide wheat and meat in increasing quantities to meet a situation that imperils the issues of the war.

Men who can be spared for work on the farms must serve in this way. Those who are obliged to remain in the city or town can at least raise vegetables in their gardens or on vacant lots.

Every effort will be made to see that labor is forthcoming to harvest the maximum crops that farmers can produce.

An increased spring acreage in wheat; and other grain is vitally needed.

Stock raisers are asked to provide the greatest possible production of meat, especially pork.

Starvation is threatening our Allies. Everyone in Canada must fight by doing his or her utmost to produce and to conserve food.

EDMONTON EXHIBITION TO BE POPULAR ONE FOR ALL
In another column will be found the announcement of the Edmonton Summer exhibition, which will be held July 8-13.

Following the policy of the association, which proved so popular at the recent spring show, of encouraging
the children to take an active interest in farm work—a number of special classes for children have been included in the prize list, the boys and girls competing to be over nine and under seventeen years of age.

Three hundred dollars is offered for a pig-raising contest, which calls for sow and litter harvested this year; the litter only will be judged. Twenty per cent for number in litter, and eighty per cent for quality and condition. The children need not necessarily own the sow, but must have cared for same from May 15th to the time of the exhibition, feeding and fitting them, and must personally exhibit them in the show ring. Four hundred dollars is offered for a children's colt class, for foals of 1917; these may be purchased or grade, but must be sired by a registered stallion; two classes are offered—one each for light and heavy horses.

The children must assume complete charge of the colts on May 15th, and exhibit them personally. In a butter-making contest, $110 is offered in prizes for boys and girls. There are also other children's classes, including sewing, cooking, gardening and school work.

The children have a chance to earn some money and at the same time increase their knowledge and experience by competing in these classes. The prize list will be ready for distribution by the end of this week, when

BIG DEMONSTRATION OF WALLIS TRACTOR

The attention of farmers and all interested in tractors is drawn to fact that a demonstration of the Wallis tractor will be given near the town of Wainwright on Saturday May 4. This tractor is claimed by the makers to be the most successful tractor on the market. Farmers are urged to be present at the demonstration in order that they may see whether the claims of the makers will stand the test.

"I guarantee that it will pull three breaking plows at eight miles per hour," says Mr. Dupre, who is handling the tractor in this district. "I have investigated many 'make' conditioned Mr. Dupre and I am convinced that I have at last found the machine that will do the work that is required in this country. I am willing to stake this machine against all makes, and I truly believe that it will prove itself under the best. It is a compact tractor, practically dust-proof and has the power."

Any interested in this demonstration are asked to be present on Saturday.

copies will be mailed to anyone asking

THREE MEATLESS DAYS EACH WEEK FOR FRENCHMEN

PARIS, April 27.—The introduction of a system of three meatless days a week is announced in an official note.
It is explained that the gradually diminishing reserves of frozen meat, the necessity of feeding part of the American army and occasionally of supplying the wants of other allies, force the government to draw more and more on the French cattle stocks.

Unscrupulous intermediaries operating in the local markets, it says, have taken advantage of these circumstances to run up prices with the result that the farmers keep back the best animals from the requisitioning officer. This practice has a double effect in that it makes it difficult to feed the army and sends up out of all bounds the price of meat for civilians.

These speculators, some of whom realize a profit of 500 francs on one steer, according to the statement, will be prosecuted vigorously. In addition the government will seek to encourage raising by increasing the requisitioning prices and by paying additional bonuses on animals fattened for market.

This is Red Triangle week for the assistance of our boys in France and we ask your undivided support.

U. S. MAY ADD MILLION MEN TO COLORS SHORTLY

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The in-the German drive, it is learned, probably will be made before congress

few days. The whole question of available equipment, quarters and transport tonnage has been reviewed recently figures.

There are some indications that courts will be made to add a million men to the colors at the earliest possible time, supplementing the 1,500,000 already with the colors and the 500, 000 previously scheduled to be mobi-

Lord Rhondda Cables: "We Cannot Achieve Victory Without Food."

"Canada Food Board,
Ottawa

"In these stern days it is inspiring to learn that Canada is tackling the food problem with redoubled energy. The terrific pressure on our military front makes it all the more imperative that those behind the line should strain every nerve to defeat the enemy's avowed object of destroying the British Empire.

"Germany hoped first to starve the Old Country by the submarine campaign and then to smash her land forces. She has failed to starve us and she will fail to smash us but we cannot achieve victory without food. There never was a time when it was more needed.

"The Canadian farmer and the Canadian farmhand now have the opportunity to make an effective reply to the enemy's present onslaughts by bending their undivided energies to the increased production of those food supplies for which we depend to such vital extent upon your great Dominion."

(Signed) "RHONDDA"

London, April 10th

The Prime Minister of Canada, in a call to Greater Food Production, says: "The crisis is grave and urgent beyond possibility of exaggeration."

Our Allies are depending upon Canada to produce this year more cereals—especially Spring Wheat—and more meat—especially Pork.

The world shortage will inevitably continue for years after the war—with this continent the nearest source of supply for the 200,000,000 persons in Europe who will be clamoring for food.

Measures have been taken and plans have been formulated which, on the authority of the Director of Agricultural Labor, will provide help needed for harvest.

City and town people who cannot go on the farms are helping to feed themselves by growing their own vegetables, so that the farmers may grow more food for export.

The food crisis calls for the utmost effort by all the people of Canada, because, as Lord Rhondda says, Food is essential to Victory.

SHOULD GET RESULTS.

The method proposed for taking the Dominion registration of man and woman power seems eminently practical. It will be compulsory for everyone of the prescribed ages to register on one day, which is to be set, the registration being conducted somewhat after the fashion of a Dominion election. Instead of going to a booth to vote, the public will go to register, and instead of it being voluntary the action will be compulsory.
Special provision is made for the registration of those who are incapacitated by illness or other cause from attending at the places where the registration is to be conducted.

The government will have to guard against congestion at the registration places. Five or six times as many persons will register as would vote in an ordinary election and the time taken up by each in registration will be considerably longer than that occupied in voting. But it can all be accomplished in one day, if adequate arrangements are made, and much more effectively and completely than if the registration was allowed to drag on for two or three weeks or even two or three days.

The time over which census taking is always spread is the great weakness of the Canadian system of census-taking. When a man has three weeks in which to do something the tendency is to delay it until the last minute and often to forget all about it.

BEWARE OF FIRE.

During the spring, with its high winds and dry grass, the danger from prairie fires becomes apparent. Carelessness in burning stubble or firebreaks may result in untold damage should a fire thus started, get beyond control. Farmers cannot exercise too much care at this time, and the large fire which could be seen from town last week was probably due to the carelessness of some person. Prevention is certainly better than an attempted cure in the care of fire.

ONE GOOD REASON:

There are several reasons for making a garden. The most immediate, and not the least influential, is that it is cheaper to feed a family out of the back yard than out of tin cans.

A rope was thrown around the neck of the statue of Frederick the Great in Washington the other day and the graven image of the Prussian potentate dragged into the junk yard. How have the mighty fallen!

There was somnolent pasture in the valley, broken by dark squares of turnip fields and a few scattered trees. Here and there the heath, appeared again and wild cotton showed faintly by white above the dark mat-sod. By and by a cross, standing by itself on the lonely hillside, caught Foster's eye, and he asked his companion about it.

"The Count's Cross, sir; a courtyard title they held in the next day. He was killed in a raid on a tower down the water, before the Featherstones came."

"But did they bury him up there?"

"No, sir; they were all buried at night by the water of Langrigg, but when they were carrying him home in the mist by the hill road, the Scots from the tower overtook them. The Count's men were wounded and their horses felled, but the Scots let them go when they found that he was dead. About 1300, sir. Somebody put the cross to commemorate it."

"They seem to have been a chivalrous lot," Foster remarked. "I wonder if that kind of thing would happen nowadays?"

"I'm afraid one couldn't expect it, sir," the old fellow answered, and Foster smiled.

The cross faded into the hillside; it got dark and the valley narrowed. Trees grew in sheltered spots; the faint, delicate tracery of birch branches breaking the solid, black ranks of the firs. The road wound along the river, which roared, half seen, in the gloom. Now and then they ran through water, and presently the glare of the headlights tore through breast-high mist. There was a smell of wet soil and rotting leaves. It was very different from the tangled pine bush of Ontario and the stark bareness of the plains, but it was somehow familiar and Foster felt that he was at home.

By and by the moon came out, and the mist got thinner as they ran into an opening where the side of the glen fell back. Lights twinkled at the foot of a hill and as they sped on the irregular outline of a house showed against a background of trees. It glimmered, long and low, in the moonlight, and then Foster lost it as they ran through a gate into the darkness of a belt of firs. A minute or two later, the car slowed and stopped after passing round a bend.

A wide door stood hospitably open, and a figure upon the steps cut against the light. There were two more figures inside the hall, and as he got down Foster heard voices that sounded strangely pleasant and refined. Then a man whom he could not see well shook hands with him and took him in, and he stopped, half dazzled by the brightness.

The hall was large and a fire burned on a deep hearth. There were oil lamps on tall pillars, and in the background a broad staircase ran up to a gallery in the gloom. Foster, however, had not much time to look about, for as soon as he had given up his hat and coat his host led him towards the fire and two ladies came up. He knew one was his partner's mother and the other his sister, but although they were like Lawrence he remarked a difference that was puzzling until he understood its origin. Mrs. Featherstone had an unmistakable stamp of dignity, but her face was gentle and her look very friendly.

by her daughter was tall and Foster thought remarkably graceful, with an air of grace and gentleness, though this vanished when she gave him a frank, welcoming smile. Featherstone, who was older than his wife, had short, grey hair, and lined, brown face, but looked strong and carried himself well.

Foster, who liked them at once, wondered rather anxiously whether he had pleased or disappointed them. But inquired that they would regard the opinion that they were, of course, not the people to show what they thought, and if he had felt any embarrassment they would have known how to put him at his ease. Still his type was no doubt, new to them and his views might be. He did not remember what they said, but they somehow made him feel he was not a stranger but a friend who had a claim, and when he went to his room he knew he would enjoy his stay with Featherstone's people.

VI.

His Comrade's Story

Foster spent the most part of the next day in the open air, with his host. Featherstone had a good deal to say, and seemed to have read much, though he held the narrow view that sometimes made the untravelled Englishman. He appeared to be scrupulously just and showed sound judgment about matters he understood, but he had strong prejudices and Foster did not think him clever. With his rather sensitive pride and fastidiousness he was certainly not the man to smile at marks in Canada, and Foster began to understand certain traits that had puzzled him in his own. Lawrence, although he had keener intelligence, was not quite so fine a type as his father, and in consequence stood rough wear better. But he too, in spite of his physical courage, now and then showed a sensitive earnestness and tried to avoid, instead of boldly grappling with, things that jarred.

They set out to go shooting, but Featherstone stopped to talk to everybody they met, and showed keen interest in such matters as the turnip crop and the state of the roads. It was clear that he was liked and respected. Sometimes he turned aside to examine a stone wall or a blocked ditch, and commented to Foster upon the economies of farming. He was a keen sportsman, and the latter soon gathered that there was not much profit to be derived from a small moorland estate and that money that had once or twice enabled Lawrence, and Foster with him, to weather a crisis.

At noon they were given a better lunch than Foster had ever had, and he was satisfied with a lovely farm, where Featherstone spoke of him as his son's partner and his friend. It was an ingenious plan, in making it known that Lawrence was prospering. This joke was his hint that he was later. They, however, shot a brace of partridges in a turnip field, a woodcock that rose from a tree and a woodcock that sprang out of a holly thicket in a bog. It was a day of gleams of sunlight and shining showers, and mist that rolled about the hills and swept away, leaving the long slopes in transient brightness, checked with the green of mosses and the red of withered fern. The sky cleared and the sun shone homeward, and when they reached the castle an angry crimson glow spread across the west.

Tea was brought them in the hall and Foster, who had changed his clothes, which was a rare luxury in Canada, sat with much content in a corner by the hearth. He had been out in the wind and long enough to enjoy the rest and warmth, and the presence of the two Englishmen added to the charm. Mrs. Featherstone was knitting, but Alice talked to her father about the shooting and what he had noted on the farms. Foster thought her cleverer than the others, but it was obvious that her interest was not forced. She understood agriculture and her remarks were singularly accurate.

The Wonders of Holy Writ

Bible Can Never Be Matched in Literature in Any Way

The bulk of the people—business men, lawyers, doctors, and others, don't read the Bible, but writers universally recognize it as the greatest book. Prof. William Lyon Phelps, of Yale University, said in a recent address:

"Being a serious book it is weak in humor," Professor Phelps said. "But I think Job intended a grim joke when he said, 'Would that adversity had written a book.'"

No narrative writers can match the style of the Bible's old testament stories—Hume, Gibbon, Rose—they are all inferior. This is the day of the short-story writer, Kipling, De Maupassant, O. Henry, but their best stories fall short of the stories of the Bible. So it is with its poetry in the Psalms. Its wisdom of the Proverbs is just as up-to-date as its morning paper, and there is no political economy equal to the Book of Genesis.

"It is impossible to over-estimate the Bible's influence on English literature. Bunyan wrote a great book because he was saturated with the Bible, and it trickled out when he wrote."

"Lincoln knew only two books—the Bible and Shakespeare, and yet he was a splendidly educated man. To know the Bible is to be educated. One of the finest metaphors in Keats' 'Ode to a Nightingale' is taken directly from the Bible: 'Nearer My God to Thee' is simply a paraphrase of the Bible."

When Churches Saved Coal

That the stove in the meeting house was a "sore of the devil," to make people too comfortable and an opinion not only expressed, but actually enforced, by the Puritans in olden days in Salem. Those rugged old souls would not have a stove in their meeting house. They did relent enough to allow the use of a stove, by women and children. But the men and boys had to stamp their feet and clap their hands, or shiver from freezing during meeting time.

Rascals Explored Hell

Famous Dutch Cartoonist Believes in the Perverse Disposition of the Belgians

Louis Rasmackers, the famous Dutch cartoonist now in this country, was unkind to before the war began. On Aug. 1, 1914, he was living quietly with his family painting the little dells, waterways, cattle and windmills of his native Holland. Five days later he drew his first cartoon, "Christendom After Twenty Centuries," a series that was to reveal him as a champion of civilization. He personally investigated the Belgian horror, and though a hundred of his early cartoons bear witness to the impressions made upon his mind, he has only once brought himself to speak publicly of his experience. It was at a dinner given the artist at the Savage club, in London. Pointing to the portrait of Henry Scott, Rasmackers said: "I, too, have been an explorer, gentlemen. I have explored hell, and it was terrible unpleasing."

Rasmackers is in his forty-eighth year. He is of medium height and build, with the fair beard and hair, light blue eyes and ruddy complexion of the typical Hollander. With wife and three children he lives in a suburb of London, thinking always and only of the war and planning pictures to aid the allies cause. He is a quick worker—scarcely out of his black and white drawings takes more than a couple of hours to execute—wielding his crayon in swift, vigorous lines. It is said that he used a sword. Since the beginning of the war he has drawn over 600 cartoons, and few papers in this country or in Belgium have not torn a basis for his artistic comment. The best of his later work has been gathered between the covers of "Hauter and Cartoons," a pictorial explanatory text by Louis Rasmackers, published by the London Gosses and others.—Boston Transcript.

A Solemn Oath

A manufacturer at Dewsbury a few weeks ago received a postcard from a German at Lothoese prison camp asking for price lists and patterns of "Hannels, satins, silks, etc., suitable for smart pyjamas." In reply the firm sent him a copy of the following "Solemn Oath" which they have sworn:

"To mark our horror and disgust of the methods of Germany since July, 1914, we swear that we will not: (a) knowingly purchase anything from a German for five years after peace. So help us, God. (b) Transact business with or through a German for five years after peace. So help us, God."

Eating Ourselves to Death

The Injury to Health and Vitality Increases With the Amount of Excess Weight Carried

That the average weight of a well-fed population is above the healthy weight best suited to health is doubtless borne out by the mortality investigations of the insurance companies. When men are divided into groups, according to their weight, the lowest mortality is not found in the groups of average weights but among those men who are from fifteen to thirty pounds under weight. This is not so apparent among young men, but after forty the difference becomes more marked, and among men of fifty and upwards the death rate is ten per cent. higher for those of average weight than for those whose weights fall into the group which are fifteen to thirty pounds underweight.

The injury to health and vitality increases with the amount of excess weight carried. This increased mortality from overweight is greatest in the middle period of life. Men from forty to forty-five years of age who weigh thirty pounds above the average have a mortality just about twice as great as those of the same age who are from fifteen to thirty pounds under the average weight—this, in whose bones carry no accumulation.

Thus we see that on the average the well-fed American carries at least twenty per cent. more adiposity than physical efficiency demands; and that an estimate of ten per cent. food waste from overeating is very conservative, indeed. The luxury of being well-fed costs our nation more than a billion dollars a year in food waste, while its cost in lives cut short and in impaired working efficiency is a loss which could be measured in dollars would amount to several billions per annum.—From "Lost Ten Pounds for Liberty" by Miles Hastings in January, Physical Culture.

Birds Mimic Shells

We are accustomed to talk of the parrot as a wonderful mimic, but almost every bird is a born imitator. Our men in the firing line have had ample opportunity of proving this. A case of a hen imitator is given in the Times. The writer says that his dog was sitting in a yard just behind the firing line on the western front when he thought he heard a shell coming. Just as it sounded as though it was about to burst the noise stopped. Two minutes later the same noise was repeated, and the soldier saw that the noise was made by a hen. The sound was then taken up by a cock, and was an exact imitation of a falling shell. From inquiries the soldier made, he found that along the front birds have learnt to make this noise since war began.

TRAGIC DEATH OF WELL KNOWN EDGERTON MAN

It was with feelings of the deepest sorrow that the sad intelligence of the tragic death of Mr. Robert Thompson was received in Edgerton and district. The deceased had started spring work on the farm of Mr. Frank Redmond and on April 19th he was plowing with a sulky on a side hill, when the plow struck a stone, and he was flung off with great force, striking on his head. In his post-mortem examination, the doctor stated that death had been instantaneous.

Mr. Thompson was a well-known and prosperous farmer in the Edgerton district, having been a resident here for the past ten years. Just over a year ago he sold his farm with the intention of retiring from arduous labors, and enjoying the means which he had so deservedly acquired. He spent most of the winter in Edmonton, but in spring the "call of the land" was too strong for him, and he longed for the life to which he had been accustomed for so many years.

Mr. Thompson was a man whom to know was to respect. He possessed all the attributes which go to make a staunch and trusted friend, and a loyal citizen. He was intensely patriotic, and the calls of the Red Cross and other war funds were freely and generously answered by him at all times.

Mr. Thompson is survived by a son, Mr. Charles Thompson, Merida, Manitoba, and a daughter, Mrs. A. E. Richardson of Dundas, Sask., to whom deep and heartfelt sympathy was extended, when, with sadly bereaved hearts they came to lay in the grave the remains of the beloved father, whose voice shall speak to them no more "until the day breaks, and the shadows flee away."

TANKS CRUSH FOE

AS THEY ADVANCE

With the British Army in France, April 26.—The slaughter caused by the small British tanks among a concentration of the enemy near Cherby in Wednesday's fighting, appears to be greater than was first expected. Two of the little engines, which are much faster than the ordinary big tanks, made the assault so quickly on two of the three battalions of the enemy's infantry which were forming for attack, that the Germans were unable to scatter before they were being furiously deluged with machine gun bullets. Not only that but a large number of men were caught beneath the tanks and ground into the earth. Prisoners estimated at least two and probably three German companies were wiped out in a few minutes. The machines returned in terrific condition from the champagne, and they had to be washed down.

FARMERS ARE PROTESTING AGAINST IT

TORONTO, April 27.—A delegation of farmers, 2,500 strong, representing the province of Ontario, is going to Ottawa before the end of the present session of the house of commons to protest against the action of the government in calling up men between the ages of 20 and 23 without exempting men engaged in farm work. New Brunswick farmers have passed a resolution asking exemption of agricultural workers as a class from immediate draft and selected a delegation to go to Ottawa to present their views.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE OF FARM LABORERS

Ottawa, April 26.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the house of commons this afternoon brought up the new regulations under which leave of absence may be given to farmers and to farm laborers in medical category lower than category "A." Sir Wilfrid asked if the statements on the subject was to be made later.

Mr. Doherty said that the minister of militia would subsequently explain the scope of the regulations.

Sir Wilfrid asked if the report was true which appeared in an Ottawa evening paper that at Pembroke the father of a defaulter had been held by the police as a hostage.

Hon. Mr. Doherty: "I should be very much surprised if the report were correct."

Australia's war loan has now reached $5,000,000 pounds.

"BRISCOE" 4-32 Special Touring

PRICE $1025

F. O. B. Brockville, Ont.

THE CLAIM OF THE "BRISCOE" to aristocracy in small car class is upheld by the superiority of its mechanical design and construction, the beauty of its lines, and the refinements in its finishing.

THE PRIMARY REQUIREMENT of a desirable motor car is an unfailingly dependable, all-powerful motor. The Briscoe, is propelled by the famous "Half-Million Dollar Motor," the motor designed by co-operation of the four outstanding geniuses of the automobile engineering world. It has almost power. It has plenty of speed.

IT IS QUIET RUNNING. IT IS ECONOMICALLY economical in the consumption of gasoline and oil per mile as well as in the almost negligible adjustments necessary after running thousands of miles. It is a motor should be.

THE CONTROL, TRANSMISSION; steering gear, starting and lighting system, and other mechanical parts of the car are built with the same care and excellence as the motor.

THE BODY OF THE CAR IS designed to give both luxury and comfort in riding and a general appearance of "class" found rarely in any but the highest priced cars. The body lines of both the roadster and touring car express the most advanced ideas of motor car designers. The appearance as well as the action of a Briscoe is that of a car costing much more than the price at which you may buy a Briscoe.

THE STORY OF THE VALUE OF the Briscoe as a motor car investment is told in the specifications. But many refinements, such as full nickel trimmings, mahogany instrument board and front seat trimmings, leather hand grips and pockets on all doors, full plated upholstery and hood envelope covers for top and bows can be appreciated only by seeing the car itself.

IF YOU HAVEN'T ALREADY seen the new Briscoe 4-32, take advantage of the very first opportunity to do so. A personal inspection will convince you and any other discriminating motor car buyer that the Briscoe is the Aristocrat of Small Cars, and an excellent car for you to own.

SOME METHODS FOR EGG PRESERVATION

By W. A. Brown, B.S.A.

Eggs are a perishable food product, and while their production is distributed throughout the year, with much greater uniformity than many other food products, it is a fact that new-laid eggs are seasonable and high in prices between the months of October and February, and plentiful and comparatively low in price in the spring and early summer months.

Methods of Home Preservation Recommended.
As the result of much technical investigation and years of practical test water, salt and lime water. While the lime water method is undoubtedly less expensive and just as efficient yet popular opinion seems to be constantly growing in favor of water-glass.

The Use of Water-Glass.
Water-glass is a solution of silicate of soda, and may be obtained from practically all dealers. A ten per cent solution is generally used, that is one part of water-glass is mixed with nine parts of water in a glass jar.

The water should first be boiled in order to destroy all vegetable or animal substances contained therein. The two substances are then thoroughly mixed and the solution allowed to stand until it becomes quite cold before using.

Lime Water Method.
Previous to the advent of artificial refrigeration, lime-water was used extensively to preserve eggs. Some large dealers still use it to supplement cold storage, and many people still use it in home preservation, although authorities differ somewhat as to the relative amounts of lime and water to be used. The proportions of two pounds of lime to five gallons of water are generally recommended. It is important, however, that the water-glass solution be as much lime as it is capable of holding. A quantity of fine salt in proportions of about one pint to the above is also frequently added. The mixture should be kept well stirred for a few hours, and then allowed to settle. The supernatant fluid is then drawn off, and poured over the eggs. In order that the solution may be kept saturated, and of uniform strength throughout the period of preservation, it is customary to add a little lime from time to time, or better to keep a cloth covered with lime in contact with the surface of the solution.

Containers.
Any receptacle that is impervious to air and does not corrode is suitable for holding the eggs. Glazed earthenware crocks, galvanized tubs or buckets, or wooden tubs or kegs are most frequently used. In the case of wooden receptacles it is desirable to set them stand filled with water for several days, and then to scald them and cleanse them thoroughly before using. For home consumption it is best to have a number of small containers holding not more than five or six dozen each. Covers should be placed over all containers and those when filled, should be stored in a cool dry place in the cellar.

The Selection of Eggs for Preservation.
Best results are obtained from eggs which are put down in April and May. At this time, eggs are not only abundant and cheaper in price than later, but they are also fuller, stronger bodied, and of all-round better quality than those available during the hot weather. An important and safe precaution is to candle all eggs. This is not a difficult or complicated process for fortunately an egg is transparent when held before a light in a darkened room and seen. If carefully rotated, of even minor defects being seen.—From Poultry Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

ALBERTA MAN IMPORTS

ABERDEEN-ANGUS CATTLE
A. C. Harris, of Battle Lake, Alberta, has recently purchased ten head of pure-bred Aberdeen-Angus cattle to start a herd on his farm. These cattle, seven cows and three bulls, were purchased from Robert Lerner, Stanberry, Missouri, and are some of the best Aberdeen-Angus ever brought into Canada from the United States. It is said: "The herd bull is a Bal. K. Pride, sired by a son of the famous 'Champion Bull' Brevin, a winner at all the leading fairs and shows in the United States."

CROP TEN DAYS AHEAD

CALGARY, April 28.—Crop reports received by the Canadian Bank of Commerce from all parts of the province show that spring farming operations are a full ten days advanced over the average. There is plenty of moisture in the ground, the snow of the past few weeks having been a great help. What is about finished in central and southern Alberta.

In United States three million volunteer harvest hands are ready throughout the country to develop America's bumper crop this year.

In Michigan farmers recently established a minimum wage of $24 a month with board for permanent workers.

The Only Hope Of Slav Freedom

Germany Is the Enemy of the Russian Revolution

It has been made clear now that Germany is the enemy of the Russian revolution, and that the only hope of Slav freedom is in the center. This was recognized at the beginning by the vast majority of the Russian people. They, who professed to see no difference between the German imperialism and the Russian imperialism, are now seeing the difference. It is the bitter difference between a socialist and a German bayonet. The most ardent of Bolsheviks are aware of the difference between the "capitalist" and the "proletariat" of England and a German army hanging and shooting down the Jews by the hundreds. From the New York Tribune.

The Indomitable French

France Is Not "Bled White" by Any Means

The following figures, given by Mr. Stephane Lauzun, editor-in-chief of the Paris Matin, director of the official Bureau of French Information, show better than any words that France is far from being exhausted or "bled white."

In 1914, at the battle of the Marne, France had in the field an army of 1,500,000 men; today after more than three years of France has in the field an army of 2,700,000 men. In September, 1914, the French war plants were manufacturing 12,000 shells per day; today France is manufacturing 300,000 shells per day. According to an agreement signed by the French high commissioner in Washington with the war department, it is the French war industries which manufacture all the light artillery for the American army.

In these war plants, which are the pride of the French nation and which are not exhausted country could maintain, nearly half a million women are actually working day and night. There also progress has been achieved; in 1914 only 25,000 women were working in these factories; on March 1, 1917, the number had increased to 375,882, and today it reaches nearly 500,000.

Since the beginning of the war the French parliament has voted credits for the war amounting to more than $20,000,000,000. Of these $20,000,000,000, only $2,000,000,000 have been borrowed from foreign countries. The whole difference was "drawn on" the savings of the French themselves, the whole balance was subscribed by the loans paid by taxes.

As a result, France has in 1917 been able to loan $1,000,000,000 to her allies, and to give them 2,500 guns and 5,000 tanks. And today on the western front the French army is still holding two-thirds of the whole line. At the beginning of the present year 82 German divisions were facing the French army. As Mr. Lauzun points out, to need 82 German divisions in order to hold an exhausted army is, indeed, out of proportion.

FOR the war against hunger as well as for the war against the Hun. For every Canadian fighting overseas, at least two on farms at home are serving none the less effectively because they wear neither uniforms nor marks of rank or valour.

Long and strenuous days are theirs, without leave or furlough! A steady drive through the daylight hours to keep the war abreast of the season, and save the crops so sorely needed to feed our fighting men.

Only those who spend such days can realize how good it feels to have a "wash-up" and a clean Gillette shave at night—or how it fits a man to enjoy the evening's rest or pleasure of the trip to town.

The busier you are going to be this summer, the more you'll need a Gillette Safety Razor, with its clean, comfortable, five-minute shave. And the better you know and like good tools, the more you'll appreciate the simple mechanical perfection that gives the Gillette such a lead over every other razor.

The Gillette Safety Razor is made in several different styles, civilian and military. Choose one of the former for yourself and delight some soldier friend with a new Military Set. Your dealer can supply you at $5.00 up.

OPPOSES SUNDAY LABOR ON FARMS

TORONTO, April 30.—Rev. Rochester, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance in a letter to the press today replies to T. H. Doherty, Canadian commissioner of the International Agricultural Institute, who recently advocated Sunday labor in field and garden.

Mr. Rochester claims that Mr. Doherty overlooks the fact that the prime minister said there was no intention of amending the Lord's Day act. The food situation is grave, Mr. Rochester said, but he does not think Sunday labor is the only hope of relief, and quoted crop estimates showing expectation of greater grain crops than ever. He says that Great Britain discovered that Sunday labor on mountains was ineffective, concluding the matter may mean its undoing for days.

SAVE THE PIGS—SAVE THE CATTLE—
Grain is a war time necessity, more acres of grain must be raised, above all heavier YIELDS must be had and to do this the land must be better FERTILIZED. That means more live stock.

For years to come, war, or not; the farm that is well-stocked with cattle and hogs will make money, if handled carefully.

Don't neglect your stock, provide them with proper shelter, it will be many years before you can build cheaper. We have lots of LUMBER. Can place you in touch with good CARPENTERS.
